22AEnvironmental Attributes:

Recipient of the "GSA Evergreen Award" in 2000. Listed as Furniture supplier in "Planet GSA" Partnering for greater government. Through the years, we have expanded our commitment to the environment into an integral part of our business by developing environmentally friendly products and processes.

A few examples:

- The Answer systems solution has been awarded the first Cradle to Cradle Certification for a workstation in the world.
- Steelcase was a founding member of the U.S. EPS Green Power Partnership.
- Steelcase conducts independent, third-party social accountability audits of suppliers around the world with Environmental Resources Management.
- We're a member of the U.S. Green Buildings Council.
- Steelcase received a gold award in product stewardship from US EPA Waste-Wise in 2007. This was the third consecutive year EPA has recognized our product steward efforts, and the sixth consecutive year Waste-Wise has recognized Steelcase for our efforts.
- We develop and sponsor international environmental education events such as the 2005 Green by Design Sustainability Symposium, as well as conferences and continuing education courses for architects and designers.
- All business stationery, globally, is made of post-consumer recycled paper.
- Steelcase added hybrid SUV's to its North American car selection options for our sales team.
- Steelcase conducted the industry's first testing for the impact of office furniture on air quality more than 20 years ago.

- Steelcase products have been certified as low emitting under ANSI/BIFMA furniture emissions standard. Steelcase is using Scientific Certification Systems (SCS) as the independent certification agency to provide our third party certification. The US Green Building Council has accepted the ANSI/BIFMA method and criteria as meeting the requirements for LEED CI Indoor Environmental Quality Credit 4.5 low emitting furniture, accepted by the US GBC in 2006.
- Steelcase's wood purchasing policy gives preference to forests independently certified as sustainable. As well, we monitor endangered species lists and only use woods that are not endangered or considered questionable.
- Steelcase uses a particleboard made of 100% recycled wood fiber content.
- We offer customers options to eliminate or minimize waste by providing blanket-wrapping, reusable containers and lightweight cardboard in packaging.
- We are committed to being 100% PVC-free by 2012.
- Steelcase has achieved ISO 14001 registration for 8 of its worldwide manufacturing operations and is targeting 2010 to complete all plant registrations globally.
- In 2001, we built the world's first LEED certified manufacturing facility.
- Steelcase metal finishing operations are 100% VOC-free.
- In 2007, Steelcase converted our wood finishing processes to a water-based system called "Clarity". The introduction of this water-based process now allows us to further reduce the environmental impact of our manufacturing processes and to achieve low emitting product certification for standard wood products.
- Our wood finishing operation in Michigan is targeting 100% water based by end of 2006.

- Since 1990, Steelcase has reduced hazardous waste generation by 99%.
- Our North American operation recycles more than 35,600 tons of steel annually.
- Steelcase Canada was recognized in 2004 by the Recycling Council of Ontario for its waste minimization efforts.
- All product development teams follow a product development process – environmental goals are incorporated in this process, and are an important consideration at every stage of the development process.

While this is a small listing of environmental initiatives we have at Steelcase, we continually strive to improve to meet customer needs and corporate environmental principles. To learn more about Steelcase Environmental Initiatives, please contact us at 616-698-4190 or visit: http://www.steelcase.com/na/environment_ourcompany.aspx?f=10038.
